Instructor: Deborah Baer Mozes, Founding Artistic Director of Theatre Ariel, Pennsylvania’s only professional dedicated to creating and producing work that illuminates the social, cultural and spiritual heritage of the Jewish people.

Jewish playwrights have played a prominent role in the world of theatre. What are contemporary Jewish playwrights exploring in their work? What do their plays reveal about American life and values, Jewish thought and life, and world affairs? In this interactive hands-on class, we will read and discuss ten-minute plays and scenes from full length plays by contemporary American Jewish playwrights to answer the question, what are they writing. Each session will focus on a different theme, time period or issue including Biblical Midrash, American History, the Shoah, American Jewish identity, family, and faith.
